Notes: New Mexico's use of the Certiclear reporting system provides more information about contract and grant details than most states. Its reliance on Certiclear, however, creates a division within the state's reporting, where contract information is disclosed on a completely different website than other ARRA information. The Certiclear setup also seems to obstruct reporting summaries of ARRA data because it behaves like a file management system rather than a database.

Actual spending by state agency on ARRA programs is reported at <http://www.recovery.state.nm.us/reports.php>. The site also makes available agency plans and decision briefs for most if not all ARRA programs at http://www.recovery.state.nm.us/agency_spending_plans.shtml.

Frequently updated PDFs that break down county-level spending for individual programs and ARRA totals are available at <http://www.recovery.state.nm.us/reports.php>. The spending data can also be downloaded as an Excel file.

The Certiclear reporting system provides information about ARRA fund contract and grant awardees. The public reporting site is linked from the ARRA site under "About 1512 Reporting" and is located at <http://nmpubreporting.certiclear.com/ARRAQuarterEndReports.aspx>. Each project is provided with its own page that describes the project, and names the managing entity, sub-recipients, and vendors. Contractors are listed as "vendors" and all projects at this point list that there are zero "sub-recipients" of ARRA funds. Funds paid to contractors are not disclosed, but contractor names are listed.

Jobs data can be found at <http://nmpubreporting.certiclear.com/ARRAQuarterEndReports.aspx>. Job totals by agency (but not by program) are available at <http://www.recovery.state.nm.us/admin/app/webroot/files/Federal%20Reporting%20Summary%20Through%2009-30-09.pdf>.

The home page has a map that allows the user to pick a county and display spending totals. A link called Details takes one to a PDF spreadsheet that lists projects with limited details.

Jobs data are not downloadable, but spending data from the first quarterly report can be downloaded as an Excel file at <http://www.recovery.state.nm.us/docs/Announced%20by%20County%20by%20Policy%20Area.xls>
